Auction Number 2 – The wrap up.

Auction 2 saw a significant rise in activity from auction 1. Lots more page views and registrations and of course a lot more bidding. No doubt this was partly due to more time, advertising, and promotion but also the overall quality of the auction was better and the start prices were generally lower which definitely encouraged bidding to start.

We managed to get a reasonable improvement in the quality of the videos however these are still well short of what we are aiming for. Expect more work in this area for Auction 3 but it will undoubtedly take a few more auctions of fine tuning before we get something like a finished product.

Had our first complaint on a description unfortunately. An item we sold as a later blob top soda where we failed to explicitly state that it had a machine finished top (it was from the 1920s which we had mentioned) whereas the buyer was assuming it was a typical applied top. Good reminder to us to double check we have included all the relevant information on each item. It is a time consuming task to really accurately describe each lot but we aim to be as precise as possible so please let us know if you have any concerns or questions. We know what we want to see described, but perhaps we are missing something that you would like to see?

There were plenty of highlights throughout the auction but here are the most obviously notable (all prices quoted include 11% buyer premium/GST): Lot 26, Summons large upright corker, a reasonably scarce bottle but this particular one was a superb colour, reached $1388; The Jacobson Internal Thread from Footscray eventually settled at $1166, a handful of these have shown up recently but I would bet that they disappear into collections again fairly readily; A superb example of a McDougall Bros., Windsor (Melbourne – Lot 54) torpedo made $1665 and I would say was a good buy at the price; The Trent Brewery Barrel (Lot 60) went quite quickly to $5550 but then stayed there until the end of the auction, another good purchase; The highly unusual South Australian Brewing Co., Internal Thread beer (Lot 70) went very well to reach $2609; Lot 94 the Yoxall Bros., Melbourne ginger beer is a definite rarity and was considered a beauty by two bidders who really went after it up to its eventual close of $1365; Another superb example of a rare item was Lot 210 the Blackett's Williamstown pot lid and given its great condition the closing price of $3386 was not surprising; The pictorial Philantrop gin is a classic and this was a bit of a battle before finishing at $2054; and finally the stunning cobalt blue grape flask, notably the variety with registration diamond on the base, achieved the significant sum of $4440.
